Issue No. 17 - January 18, 2019

The MCCSC Office of High Ability Education has begun the middle school high ability identification/application process for the 2019-2020 school year for incoming seventh grade students. Notification letters will be mailed on Friday, January 25, 2019 to current sixth grade students who automatically qualify for middle school high ability services (advanced ELA or ALPS) based on scores on the In View and NWEA assessments. Application materials for students who want to appeal for placement in middle school high ability programs are due to the Office of High Ability Education on or before Friday, February 8, 2019. Placement in advanced math classes is a separate process and will occur late second semester.

If you have questions about the application/identification process, a parent information meeting will be held on Thursday, January 24 at 6:30 P.M. in the Tri North Middle School auditorium. This meeting is open to any parent or student interested in MCCSC middle school high ability programs. Information about high ability programs may also be found on the MCCSC website at www.mccsc.edu.

Social Skill for the Week of January 21st

Helping Others

- Look at the person
- Use a pleasant, sincere vice tone
- Say, "Can I help you with...," and specifically describe how you would like to help.
- Follow through with helping the person

At home parents can teach the skill of "Helping Others" by using every day examples of helping siblings or parents with a task. For example, children can help do simple tasks to help prepare dinner such as setting the table, washing produce, and helping with clean up. Children can also help their siblings by helping them pick up their toys, reading to younger brothers or sisters, or playing a game with them.

Below is an article with tips for parents about encouraging children to help others along with a great video from Kid President about Martin Luther King Junior.
